

"Love Like You" by Emily Fincher – L'Arche Tahoma Hope

You invited me into community
And helped me become who I needed to be
And taught me just what love was like
When you accepted me completely

I thought that I came here to help you all out
But I understand better what things are about
You showed me that you'd change my life
And now I know without a doubt that

You taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
When I was right, when I was wrong
When I was weak, when I was strong
You taught me to love like you,
Love like you.

Loving each other looks different right now
And I know that it's hard just to stay in this house
And maybe we don't understand
But I promise that we'll work it out and

Sometimes what's loving may not make much sense
Like washing our hands, or keeping our distance
But someday I'll hug you again
And we'll face this hand in hand and

You taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
When you are right, when you are wrong,
When you are weak, when you are strong,
You taught me to love like you,

I know that it's harder when we are apart
But I promise I'm holding you here in my heart
And soon we'll be together again
Together and stronger for this...

You taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you

You taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
Taught me to love like you
When we are right, when we are wrong
When we are weak, when we are strong,
You taught me to love like you,
Love like you.
